

Free access to the Deltares facilities for SMEs and start-ups

Deltares will be opening the doors of the research facilities in 2024 to support innovative initiatives from start-ups and SMEs. The collaboration consists of free access to the facilities to test concepts for the design of innovations. Examples include new offshore surveying techniques, coastal and seabed protection, rock revetments, cutter and suction heads (including deepsea applications), and bubble screens.

All Dutch SMEs and start-ups as defined by the European Union can apply. In addition, the programme will focus on design concepts up to and including Technology Readiness Level 4. For the registration period, the application form and more information, visit our website
